Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 21 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Feeling cold with sunny spells and scattered wintry showers.

Today:
A cold start with icy stretches. Scattered showers frequent and wintry in the north with spells of sunshine between. Drier with longer spells of sunshine further east. Feeling cold with winds easing through the afternoon. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Tonight:
Through the evening and overnight showers become less frequent and confined to the coast. Clear spells for most with an overnight frost and a few fog patches. Minimum temperature -3 deg C (27 deg F).

Friday:
A frost to start with icy stretches. Sunny spells throughout the day and remaining largely dry for most but with scattered showers near the coasts. Feeling cold with lighter winds. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Sunny spells with scattered showers on Saturday. Cloudier on Sunday with a risk of rain and snow. Sunny spells with few showers on Monday. Feeling cold throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.